RECORD ENROLLMENT

This year 306 new students have enrolled as undergraduate students making it the largest entering class in the College's history. This is a jump of more than fifty students over last year. Figures on the total number of undergraduate and graduate students are not yet available.

BALTIMORE GETS INTERPRETED NEWS

Beginning Monday, September 13, deaf people in the Baltimore metropolitan area will receive Channel 13's 7:25 a.m. "Eyewitness News" broadcast in total communication. Liz Elias, who is a junior high school English teacher and has been studying sign language for four years, will be the interpreter.

There are nearly 268,000 people with hearing impairments living in Maryland, 35,000 of whom are totally deaf.

SEASON TICKETS

The Drama Department will present three productions during the academic year including two full-length plays and one children's program.

The fall play is an original production by Gilbert Eastman entitled "Laurent Clerc: A Profile." Production dates are October 29 and 30, at 7:30 p.m. and November 5 and 6, at 8 p.m.

Season passes at $4.75, a savings of $2.75, are available to cover all three productions. This pass can be purchased only by Gallaudet faculty and staff. Order blanks can be obtained from Jo Tracy. Offer expires on September 20. Don't miss this opportunity to save and see three great performances.

MEET OUR NEW FACULTY

All are reminded that the Convocation Address and New Faculty Introductions are scheduled for September 13, 11 a.m. in the Auditorium.

An afternoon reception for new faculty and staff will be held that same day at 4 p.m. in the Student Union Lounge. Please come and welcome our newcomers to the Gallaudet community.

PROBLEMS WITH HEARING AIDS STUDIES

As a result of a nationwide survey conducted by Mr. James Payne, formerly of the Consumer Product Information Center, General Services Administration, the National Hearing Aid Society has adopted a new consumer protection plan for hearing aid purchasers.

The main points of the new program are:

- *Potential clients for hearing aids must be examined by a physician to see if a hearing aid would be beneficial and to advise of needed medical or surgical correction.

- *When requested, a rental-purchase option will be offered by those dealers who are members of the National Hearing Aid Society.

- *A new grievance handling procedure is being set up with a network of "hot-lines" to bring complaints to officials in the industry.

- *Advanced training courses are being established for hearing aid specialists.

AMONG OURSELVES

--Later this week, Will Madsen will be conducting a workshop for sign language instructors in Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

--Betty Miller has recently received her Doctor of Education in Art Education from the Pennsylvania State University. Betty's thesis was titled, "Deaf Learners as Artists."

KENDALL DEVELOPS CURRICULUM GUIDE

With the assistance of consultants from the University of Maryland, a curriculum guide for Kendall School was developed over the summer break. The guide is divided into three main parts: functional curriculum (psycho-motor, perceptual and cognitive skills), academic curriculum (language arts, mathematics, science and social studies) and socioemotional curriculum (attitudes about self, peers and society),

STATE INPUT TO WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE

Virginia's state meeting of the White House Conference on Handicapped Individuals will be held in early November in Fishersville, Virginia. The three-day session is a prelude to the national meeting which will be conducted in Washington this May.

Prior to the statewide meeting, five regional forums are slated. This Saturday, the regional meeting in our area will be held at the Ramada, Inn, 901 Fairfax Street, Alexandria. For more information call Faye Straub at (804) 786-2091.

SPECTACLE OF SPECTACLES

An evening with Louie Fant -- that versatile actor, interpreter extraordinaire and outstanding teacher -- is planned for Saturday, September 11, 7:30 p.m. in the Auditorium. Tickets are $3 for general admission and $1.50 for students. Proceeds to support the philanthropic projects of the Alexandria-Potomac Lions Club.

ON THE GREEN is published each week for the faculty and staff of Gallaudet College by the Office of Alumni and Public Relations.
